Details:

Our leadership team supports the people, technology and day-to-day work behind MyBudget. Founder Tammy Barton’s experience of seeing financial stress firsthand continues to shape our focus on practical help and caring support.

Tammy Barton — Founder and Director

Tammy Barton founded MyBudget in 1999 from her kitchen table in Adelaide at the age of 22. What started as helping friends and family with their finances has grown into a national service that has helped more than 130,000 Australians and manages more than a billion dollars in client income each year.

Tammy Barton is our founder and director. She established MyBudget in Adelaide in 1999.

Tammy shares practical ideas about money habits, household budgets and financial wellbeing through MyBudget’s MoneyHub and public commentary.

A leadership team that reflects our clients

Our senior management team supports operations, client services, product, compliance, marketing, technology, and people and culture.

Our service combines the experience of our expert Money Coaches with proprietary technology and a practical understanding of household finances.

Gender equality in numbers

The senior team's composition is part of a broader pattern across MyBudget.

- 75% of senior management roles are held by women (6 of 8)
- 55% of our team members overall are women, representing 61% of payroll cost
- Median base salary gender pay gap: 4.6%
- Median total remuneration gender pay gap: 0.2%

Both pay-gap figures sit inside the range the Workplace Gender Equality Agency (WGEA) considers balanced. We publish them because we think they should be public. And because we are proud of them.

We help women, men, couples and families at different stages of life, with budgets shaped around their circumstances and goals.

How the leadership team runs MyBudget

The leadership group is responsible for:

- Since 1999, we have helped more than 130,000 Australians take practical steps towards their financial goals.
- Regulatory compliance. Operating under our AFSL, ACL, and AFCA obligations (see Accreditations)
- Team wellbeing. A workplace that people want to work at, in a service industry where empathy matters
- Financial responsibility. Managing more than a billion dollars in annual client income across a trust framework
- Product development. The platform, tools, and Money Coach training that make the MyBudget Method possible
- We support people in Australia and New Zealand. Australian appointments are available by phone or video, with in-person appointments in Adelaide and Perth. For New Zealand enquiries, visit mybudget.co.nz or call 09 849 6285; Australian enquiries can call 1300 300 922.

Get in touch

If you want to contact the leadership team directly, the best starting point is:

- Phone: 1300 300 922
- Web: free, no-obligation enquiry
- Address: 122 Frome Street, Adelaide SA 5000

For formal complaints, our external dispute resolution provider is the Australian Financial Complaints Authority (AFCA). Details on our Accreditations page.
